Leo M. Frank is now out of danger and his recovery assured.

The bodies of two more American Lusitania victims have been recovered.

A Huntingdon, Tenn., Toke Pierce eloped with his old uncle's young wife.

The will of Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, disposing of a $75,000 estate, was filed yesterday.

A New York subtreasury clerk has been arrested on the charge of embezzling $3,920 by substituting pennies for nickels in coin bags.

A small boy went hunting with his flbert rifle on the streets of Frankfort and the biggest game he bagged was four white men and a negro.

Charging a shortage of $40,000 in his accounts, the State revenue agent has brought suit against Lewis M. Hitt, former Circuit Court Clerk of Nashville, for recovery on his bond.

A speaker who advocated segregation as a solution for the social evil created an uproar in the purity congress at San Francisco. He was refused a grace of five minutes when his time expired.

Churches were forbidden to hold services at Princeton, Ind., Sunday, because of a smallpox epidemic. An attempt was made to make everybody stay in doors, but occasionally a small boy would break out.

Carranza has virtually ordered all representatives of foreign governments to send their accredited agents to Vera Cruz, since he is unable to hold Mexico City. He is understood to regard Consul Silman at Vera Cruz as a properly accredited agent of the United States. The report creates interest and surprise in official and diplomatic circles, particularly in view of the general understanding that foreign governments were awaiting action by the United States toward Mexico before recognizing any government in the republic.

The Purity conventions at San Francisco are bringing out all sorts of fanatics. Dr. Charles G. Pease, of New York, president of the Non-smokers' Protective League of America, opened the first annual convention of that organization there with three persons in his audience. One was a real delegate, the second was a press agent looking for a job and the third a reporter. Dr. Pease advised all young women engaged to men with the tobacco habit to break with them immediately. "No woman can afford to occupy the same room with a man who smokes," said Dr. Pease. "For the good of future generations women should insist on their husbands living in another part of their homes. I am in favor of every wife forcing her husband to smoke on the back doorstep. He should not be allowed to smoke in the house. If he don't stop this smoking business our jails are going to be overcrowded." Evidently the doctor is opposed to "a pipe of Pease."

Keenon Not on Slate.

Rodman W. Keenon, of Harrodsburg, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, spent yesterday in Louisville on his return from a campaigning trip in Western Kentucky. He bore testimony to the great ovation tendered A. O. Stanley at Mayfield and Fulton last Monday. Mr. Keenon, who expressed himself as highly pleased with the encouragement and support that is being accorded him, took occasion while here to vigorously deny that he had any entangling alliances in his race. "I started in this race without asking anybody," said he, "and I wear the collar of no man or faction of the party. I purpose to run it out on my own merits."

NOTE TO GERMANY

Has Gone Forward But Does Not Contain An Ultimatum.

REVIEWS LUSITANIA TROUBLE

Gives Warning Loss of American Lives at Sea Will Constitute Unfriendly Act.

Washington, July 23.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, conferring at the white house, have sent the new note to Germany, warning her that the repetition of a disaster such as that visited upon the Lusitania or any violation of American rights on the high seas resulting in loss of American lives will be considered "unfriendly."

The note is in the nature of a final statement by the United States of the interpretation that will be placed by this government on future transgressions of American rights and repeats that the American government will leave nothing undone to stand by that position it has previously declared. Among the points in the new note are:

POINTS IN THE NEW NOTE.

- 1—The assumption by the United States that Germany, by declaring her submarine warfare to be a retaliatory measure against the alleged unlawful acts of her enemies, has admitted that the destruction of unresisting merchantmen with out warning is illegal.
- 2—German submarine commanders have already proved that they can save passengers and crews of vessels and can act in conformity with the laws of humanity in making war on enemy ships.
- 3—The United States cannot allow the relations between the belligerents to operate in any way as an abbreviation of the rights of neutrals and, therefore, any violation of the principles for which the American government contends, resulting in a loss of American lives, will be viewed as "unfriendly."
- 4—The representations which the American government has made in previous notes for disavowal of the intention to sink the Lusitania with Americans aboard and the request for reparation are reiterated with renewed insistence.
- 5—The American government realizes the unusual and abnormal conditions which the present conflict has created in the conduct of maritime war and is willing to act as an intermediary as between the belligerents to arrange a modus vivendi or any other temporary arrangements which do not involve a surrender by the United States of its rights.
- 6—The proposals made by Germany to give immunity to American ships not carrying contraband, and to four belligerent ships under the American flag, are rejected with the emphatic assertion that to accept such suggestions would be to admit Germany's right to set aside the American contentions based on fundamental principles in international law, that neutrals may travel anywhere on the high seas on unresisting ships of any nationality even if carrying contraband.

The note is about 1,200 words long. While nowhere in it is there any direct intimation of the course which the United States will pursue in the event of another disaster similar to the Lusitania tragedy, there are emphatic statements throughout the communication, pointing out that the discussion of the principles involved has been virtually concluded and that the future conduct of German submarine commanders will determine the responsibility for the continuation of friendly relations.

STANLEY ON AUGUST 4TH

Will Make One of the Closing Speeches of His Campaign.

GREAT OVATION IS PLANNED.

His Friends Are Arranging For a Mammoth Rally That Day.

Hon. A. O. Stanley, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak in Hopkinsville on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 4th.

Plans are now on foot for a big celebration to be given in his honor on that day. It is proposed to widely advertise the speaking and to have several thousand people here from all over this end of the state. Just yet the details of these plans have not been announced, but they will be in a day or two as soon as they can be completed.

Mr. Stanley will answer the attacks made on him by one of his opponents and state his position on a number of the campaign.

MARTIN-ANDERSON.

Popular Young People of This City Marry in Clarksville.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Wallis Martin and Miss Rebecca Anderson, accompanied by Mr. Leonard Charlton and Miss Lelia Long, went over to Clarksville and were married. The wedding was a surprise to their many friends. Rev. Rodman De Ovie, of that city, performed the ceremony. They returned that night and were entertained with a moonlight party at Mr. Martin's home on West 7th street.

Mr. Martin is a son of Mr. J. P. Martin and is highly respected by his many friends, and holds a position as a first-class painter with Charlie Higgen. Miss Anderson is a daughter of Mr. J. B. Anderson, and is a very attractive young lady. For several years she held a position as head clerk at the Kress store.

Before incorporating, it had been in business for fifteen years as a branch of the Bank of Kentucky, located at Louisville. Its charter has been amended twice, on March 1, 1899 and Jan. 29, 1910. The present officers of this highly successful institution are Nat Gaither, President, and J. E. McPherson, cashier.

Whisky Kills Child.

Glasgow, Ky., July 23.—Gifford Harris, the five-year-old child of Jasper Harris, died from taking two drinks of whisky Monday. The father found the whisky and carried it to his home. The child, in the absence of its parents, drank some, dying thirty minutes later. It is now believed the whisky had been poisoned. An investigation is being made.

SOLDIERS BACK HOME

Sham Battle Fought As Concluding Feature of Encampment.

CO. D. IN THE TRENCHES

Is Attacked By The Other Two Regiments And Defeated.

After a splendid encampment at Owensboro, the Kentucky National Guard broke camp yesterday.

The first few days of the encampment were marred by the inclement weather, the wet grounds preventing any maneuvers of importance.

On Thursday the sham battle, which is the red letter event of the encampment each year, was held on Bon Harbor Hills near Owensboro. The Third Regiment, under command of Col. Jouett Henry, was entrenched in the hills and pitted against all the other troops under command of Brigadier General Williams.

The Third Regiment was defeated by an auto coup. While about 150 men made the defenders believe the attacking forces were all before them, nearly all the other troops were carried in autos to the rear of the 3rd. Regiment and an unsuspected attack from behind proved successful.

On Thursday afternoon the soldier boys were paid off for their services. Nearly 2,000 militiamen marched in the pay line and the total amount paid out was estimated at $22,000.

Co. D. made a fine showing on the encampment, as well as the Third Regiment Band.

The orders to break camp were given at about noon yesterday. The local boys were scheduled to arrive at a late hour last night.

CRUSHED IN ENGINE

John M. Clardy, A Prominent Young Farmer, Meets Horrible Death.

ALONE WHEN IT OCCURRED

Burial In This City This Morning at Riverside Cemetery.

John Moore Clardy, aged 23, oldest son of Flem C. Clardy and grandson of Dr. John D. Clardy, met death in a horrible manner Thursday afternoon, at his home eight miles from town.

He was alone at the time, except for the presence of the colored cook. Mrs. Clardy and her daughter, Miss Annie Bacon Clardy were in this city and his father had gone to his grandfather's. His little brother had been to Dr. Clardy's but had returned and was with the hands in the field. Mr. Clardy had brought the 22 horse power traction engine used about the farm up near the house and was pumping water to fill the tank supplying water to the house. The cook in passing about the yard saw him busily engaged around the engine. Suddenly she heard the engine clicking and then it stopped with a sort of chug. Soon afterwards his little brother, Flem, aged 13 years, came from the field and found Mr. Clardy's dead body wedged in between the belting and the machine. One arm was entangled and crushed and later it was found that his neck, both legs and both arms were broken and there was a laceration of his face, one eyelid being torn off. It is supposed that his sleeve caught in the belt and jerked him into the machinery with such force as to break his neck and cause instant death. He made no outcry and it is not known just what stopped the engine. He may have been cutting it off when caught or the crushing of his body may have caused it to stop. It was running with low steam.

"Little Flem" at once called to the woman and she rang the farm bell and the young man's father a mile away came home at once. In the meantime Wallace F. Boyd, who lives near by, ran to the scene, the first person to arrive. He did not understand the engine well enough to release the clutch and it was necessary to wait a few minutes until his father arrived. While explaining the engine Mr. Clardy was overcome and was sent to the house and the body was released by Mr. Boyd and the hands on the place.

His mother and sister were summoned by telephone but they were not told until they reached home that he was dead. His aged grandfather, who is critically ill, was not notified at the time.

Mr. Clardy was a fine young man who was a valuable assistant to his father and grandfather in their extensive farming operations. He was unmarried and was a member of the South Union Baptist church and the Church Hill Grange.

The funeral will be held at the home on the Cox mill road, near Church Hill, this morning at 10 o'clock, by Rev. H. E. Gabby. The interment will take place at Riverside cemetery, probably near the noon hour.

Hospital Team Still Playing Winning Games.

A ball team made up of local boys was unmercifully slaughtered by the sluggers of the Western State Hospital team. The hospital bunch showed good practice and condition and had the edge over the town lads all the way through.

Big Jack Long heaved the horsehide for the hospital team and though hit hard kept the wallops well scattered. The hospital bunch played

GERMANS FAIL TO BREAK LINE

Russians Retreat to Inner Defenses, Where Determined Stand Is Being Made.

LITTLE HOPE CITY WILL HOLD

Official Reports Contradictory as to Progress of Assaults Made on Western Front.

London, July 23.—The Austro-German armies continue to press the Russian forces defending Warsaw, and while they have made progress at some points, they have made no serious breach in the well fortified inner lines defending the city.

The Russians have been drawn back to the bridgehead positions directly west of Warsaw and into the fortress of Ivangorod, farther southeast, on the Vistula. But at these points they probably can offer more stubborn resistance.

The two attacks that are being made from the north along the Narw river by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and that which Field Marshal Von Mackensen is directing from the southeast, between the Vistula and Bug rivers, apparently have been held up, or the Germans are awaiting an opportune moment to move forward and catch the Russian armies, should it be decided to evacuate Warsaw. At any rate, Berlin does not claim any advance for Von Mackensen, while the official report, although it states that the Russians have ceased counter attacks along the Narw, does not mention any success by Von Hindenburg.

However, should the Russians hold Warsaw it would surprise the military critics in the allied countries who have discounted the loss of the city, attacked from all sides by opponents possessed of superiority in guns and munitions.

Grand Duke Nicholas, although delivering stinging counter attacks and inflicting heavy losses on the Austro-Germans, must in the first place consider the safety of his armies, the loss of which would be much more serious for the Russians than retirement from the Polish capital and the territory around it.

The Argonne and the Vosges still are the scenes of the severe fighting in the west. The accounts from the opposing sides are as contradictory as ever, but it would appear that the French are the aggressors in the Vosges and have made some progress, and that the Germans have offset this by a partially successful offensive in the Argonne.

The Italians continue their attacks along the Isonzo, the battle for the conquest of Gorizia and the Carso plateau assuming larger proportions and more men being engaged than in any previous battle on the Italian front. The Italians claim progress, while the Austrians consistently report that all attacks have been repulsed.

A short official account issued of recent fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula indicates that minor engagements have favored the allies.

German submarines sank no British vessels during the week ending yesterday.

This was the first week since the war began that some loss to British shipping has not been occasioned either by German cruisers, mines or submarines. During the week 1,325 vessels of more than 300 tons each arrived or departed from ports of the United Kingdom.

Now that it is assured that Frank will get well, he ought to be pardoned or put where he will be safe while he sleeps.

Henderson is searching for a motto and a local poet, in an effort of fourteen stanzas suggests "We Will." Is it possible that the sleepy old town is going to die?

Mrs. Garland Hare, formerly Miss Ruesie Hill, a daughter of Gen. A. P. Hill, who was a belle in Lexington in her early years, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. K. G. Forsythe, at Ashland, Va. She was buried at Lexington, Ky., yesterday.

The announcement of the engagement and coming marriage of Miss Catherine Barker, the $30,000,000 heiress, to Howard H. Spaulding, Jr., of Chicago, revealed that the young bridegroom-to-be already has made rapid strides in the business world.

A bust of the late Judge William S. Pryor, is to be placed in the Capitol building at Frankfort. The bust is to be made by Julian Zolnay, and will cost $750. The Louisville bar has already subscribed $250 to the fund, and quite a number of Lexington attorneys have contributed.

After searching for a diamond for two days, Mrs. Clark Hyde, of New York, received it from her son, Hubert, who found it in a buckwheat cake he was eating. Mrs. Hyde, had dropped it in some butter and it had sunk out of sight. There are times when it might be cheaper to butter cakes with diamonds.

The body of Herbert S. Stone, who was a Lusitania victim, has come ashore at Ballybunnion, a small town on the west coast of Ireland, about 150 miles from the point where the Lusitania was sunk. The body has been fully identified by articles upon the person, including a card case filled with cards, his watch and other belongings.

Kentucky's brave old Governor is not as old as some people think, at least he is full of fight. In a speech to the troops at Owensboro Gov. McCreary declared himself "a believer in peace, but peace with honor," he said. "If the flag of the United States is insulted on land or sea, I am ready for war, and in the event of war I shall exercise my prerogative as commander-in-chief of the Kentucky troops and go to the front with you."

More than 500 members of the crew of the Italian cruiser Giuseppe Garibaldi, sunk Monday by an Austrian submarine, were saved. This leaves only about fifty who are missing and who probably were drowned. Survivors say the Giuseppe Garibaldi was attacked by three submarines which came from the direction of Ragusa and Spalato, Dalmatia. The Italian warship opened fire on the submarines, one of which is believed to have been sunk.

If the British Foreign Office accepts the view of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, Ambassador to the United States, that tobacco be removed from the contraband list, Kentucky will profit by many millions of dollars and will not know, commercially, that there is a war in Europe. Sir Cecil informed the Secretary of State Tuesday in response to a request transmitted by the Secretary from Senator James and Representative R. Y. Thomas, that he personally favors nonlisting tobacco as contraband.

Daily Thought.

INSPIRATION OF
THE COUNTY FAIR

By Peter Radford.

When you enter the agricultural department of the county fair, you feel your soul uplifted and your life takes on a new power—that is the inspiration of the sell. You are overpowered by the grandeur and magnificence of the scene—that is the spirit of the harvest. You can hear the voice of nature calling you back to the soil—that is opportunity knocking at your door. It is a good chance to spend a quiet hour in contact with the purity and perfection of nature and to sweeten your life with its fragrance, elevate your ideals with its beauty and expand your imagination with its power.

These products as food are fit for the gods, and as an article of commerce they ought to bring tip-top prices on any market in the world.

The products of the soil are teachers and preachers as well. Their beauty gives human life its first entertainment, their perfection stirs the genius in artists; their purity furnishes models for growth of character and their marvelous achievements excite our curiosity and we inquire into the wonderful process of nature.

Before leaving the parlor of agriculture where nature is parading in her most graceful attire and science is climbing the giddy heights of perfection, let us pause and take a retrospective view. How many of you know that after these wonderful products are raised, they can seldom be marketed at a profit? Take the blushing Elberta, for example—they were fed to the hogs by the carload last year. The onion—the nation's favorite vegetable—every year rots by the acre in the Southwest for want of a market and as a result hundreds of farmers have lost their homes. Cotton—nature's capitalist—often goes hogging on the market at less than cost of production.

It is great to wander through the exhibits while the hand is playing "Dixie" and boast of the marvelous fertility of the soil and pride ourselves on our ability to master science, but it is also well to remember that there is a market side to agriculture that does not reflect its hardships in the exhibits at a county fair.

UNIVERSAL PEACE

This nation is new in the midst of a controversy as to how best to promote universal peace. That question we will leave for diplomats to discuss, but peace within nations is no less important than peace between nations and it is heavily laden with prosperity for every citizen within our commonwealth.

Many leading politicians and oftentimes political platforms have declared war upon business and no cabinet crisis ever resulted. Many men have stood in high places and hurled "gas bombs" at industry; thrust bayonets into business enterprises and homesteaded agriculture with indifference. Party leaders have many times broken diplomatic relations with industry; sent political aviators spying through the affairs of business, and political submarines have sent torpedoes crushing into the destiny of commerce. During the past quarter of a century we have fought many a duel with progress, permitted many politicians to carry on a guerrilla warfare against civilization and point a pistol at the heart of honest enterprise.

No man should be permitted to cry out for universal peace until his record has been searched for explosives, for no vessel armed or laden with munitions of war should be given a clearance to sail for the port of Universal Peace. Let us by all means have peace, but peace, like charity, should begin at home.

GRASPING AT THE SHADOW

No man—especially if he is married—would deny woman any right she demands. Take the earth and give us peace, but why does woman grasp for the halo?

When all is said and done, is not the selection of the butcher more important to the home than the election of a mayor; is not the employment of the dairyman a far more important event in the life of the children than the appointment of a postmaster; is not the selection of books for the family library more important than voting bonds for jail and court house? Why does woman lay aside the important things in life? Why leave the substance and grasp at the shadow?

Be it said to the credit of womanhood that it is not, as a rule, the woman who rocks the cradle that wants to cast the ballot; it is not the mother who teaches her children to say "Now I lay me down to sleep" that harangues the populace; it is not the daughter who hopes to reign as queen over a happy home that longs for the uniform of the suffragette. It is, as a rule, the woman who despises her home, neglects her children and

DIVINE WORSHIP IN MINES

Workers Underground Are Afforded Places in Which They May Perform Religious Devotions.

In the Myndd Newydd coal mines, in Wales, there is an "apartment" used exclusively as a place of worship. This underground chapel dates from a period of more than fifty years ago, since when it has always been used as a church, the miners assembling in this strange room every morning to perform their religious devotions.

The chapel is situated close to the bottom of the shaft, so that the miners, on descending the pit, can attend before proceeding to their various stations. The "apartment" lacks ornamentation or adornment, the pillars and beams supporting the roof being of rough wood. A disused coal trolley, turned on end, serves as a pulpit. The miners sit upon wooden benches placed across the chapel from side to side, and the oldest worker of the mine performs the duty of pastor.

In the salt mine at Wieliczka, Austria, there is a chapel of St. Anthony, a Byzantine excavation, supported by columns, with altar, crucifix and life-size statues of saints, apparently in black marble, but in reality made of salt.

Ostrich Forcefully Fed.

The Zoological Society Bulletin remarks that refusal of food is generally the first symptom that an animal or bird is sick. The ostrich is one of the most provoking in this respect, and, if heroic measures be not adopted, soon becomes so thin as to become a prey to some really dangerous ailment.

A fine South African ostrich received from Arizona at the New York Zoological gardens in Bronx park last summer refused his breakfast on December 23, 1914. He showed no other symptoms of illness. A week passed and he began to look thin. Keeper George Snyder, at considerable personal risk, began a system of forcible feeding, ramming holus after holus of food wrapped in lettuce leaves down the throat of the unwilling bird.

This treatment was kept up for more than six weeks, and the ostrich became so accustomed to it that he ceased to resist. On February 6, 1915, he first evinced a willingness to feed himself, and within a short time his hunger strike was over.

Old Sport of Falconry.

Falconry is an ancient sport. It appears to have been known in China 4,000 years ago, and at an equally early date in the valleys of the Nile and Euphrates. The references to it in Aristotle, Pliny and Martial are definite. It was probably introduced into England from the continent in the ninth century and was followed there down to the middle of the seventeenth century with greater ardor than any other sport, even than fox hunting. Falcons were allotted to men according to their rank: To the emperor, the eagle and vulture; to kings, the gerfalcons; to earls, the peregrines; to yeomen, the goshawks; to priests, the sparrow hawks, and to servants, the useless kestrels.

The Optimist.

On the whole, poets do not seem to have too good a time of it. It is rather rare for an editor to see eye to eye with them in regard to the quality of their work.

Perclival Flitpep had had his work "turned down" by five editors in succession, and was now being told the cold and bitter truth by the sixth. His rage got the better of him.

"Some day," he burst out, "you editors will be fighting for my work."

"Never mind," chortled he of the hard heart. "When that day comes, even if I lose, I'll be just as happy!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

His Favorite Hymn.

A lady with an unusually sweet voice is connected with a charitable organization and often sings at funerals in the tenements. At the funeral of a man who had been killed by falling from a scaffold she was met by a woman who seemed to be in charge. To her the singer said: "What do you want me to sing?" "Blest if I know," was the reply. "I don't know what the favorite of the corpse was and, failing from a scaffold-like he done, he didn't have no chance to pick out a piece." Then she thrust her head inside a door and said to someone in the room: "Do any of you know what the corpse's favorite hymn was?"

Old Watch on Aliens.

Medieval England kept a sharp watch over aliens, even those belonging to nations with which it was at peace. According to the Saxon law of frankpledge, which remained in force until 1370, no hosteler might entertain a foreigner for more than a day and a night, unless he undertook to answer for his guest's behavior. No foreigners were allowed to keep hostels in London, and many became naturalized in order to qualify for this privilege. Even so, they were not suffered to compete on equal terms with the natives, being required to keep their houses "in the heart of the city," and being rigidly excluded from the more profitable regions on the bank of the Thames.

Primitive Matches.

The first matches of which we have any account were thin splinters of wood about four inches long, tipped with sulphur. They were ignited when live coals or other fire were not available by means of a tinder box and its copartner, flint or steel. Fire was first communicated to the tinder by sparks of burning metal struck from the steel by the flint.

TEACHING CHILDREN TO TALK

Comparatively an Easy Matter to Get Them to Use the Right Words in Right Place.

We teach our children to eat nicely, to walk gracefully, and to dress themselves neatly, and all the rest of it, but very few of us take the trouble to teach them how to talk in an interesting way, though the art of entertaining conversation is as valuable an art as one can possess, says the Camden Daily Courier.

If you listen to the ordinary gossip in an average family you will notice that the children use the same set of words again and again. They have half a dozen adjectives with which they sprinkle their conversation and they help out their lack of expression by such tags as "Oh, well, you know what I mean," or "It was a sort of what-do-you-call-it" and so on.

It is a pity to allow such slovenly habits of speech to be formed. Even when the accent and grammar are quite good, the children's speech is often very uninteresting just because of the thoughtless style of expression used.

When a glaringly unsuitable word is used take a chance of speaking about it and suggesting a better one. There will be no need to nag at the children on such points as these. They will be only too glad to learn, if they have the chance, for most little ones are instinctively attracted by the mere sound of new words.

Angry Letters.

This at least should be a rule through the letter writing world—that no angry letter be posted till four and twenty hours shall have elapsed since it was written. We all know how absurd is that other rule, of saying the alphabet when you are angry. Trash! Sit down and write your letter; write it with all the venom in your power; spit out your epilepsy at the fullest; it will do you good. You think you have been injured; say all that you can say with all your poisoned eloquence, and gratify yourself by reading it while your temper is still hot. Then put it in your desk; and, as a matter of course, burn it before breakfast the following morning. Believe me that you will then have a double gratification.—
Anthony Trollope.

Friendship.

If a friend of mine gave a feast and did not invite me to it, I should not mind a bit. But if a friend of mine had a sorrow and refused to allow me to share it, I should feel it most bitterly.—Oscar Wilde.

MADE A MATTER OF BARTER

John Wanted Contract to Be Explicit as to the Ownership of Those Trousers.

A village clergyman in England, walking round his parish, met an old parishioner. "Well, John," he said,
"how is it I have not seen you at church for several Sundays?" "Hain't got no Sunday trousers," answered John. "Well," said the clergyman,
"I think we can remedy that. I have a pair at home which will just about fit you, and I will have them sent to you today. 'Thank'ee!" said John.
The trousers were duly sent, and the following three Sundays John was seen at church. Then, after being absent for some time, the clergyman again met him. "Well, John," he said, "you have no excuse for not coming to church lately. How is it I have not seen you there?" "Look here, parson!" said John. "I like a man to speak plain. I know what you mean; you're a-thinking about them trousers. I come to church three Sundays, an', if you don't think I earned them trousers, just tell me how many more Sundays I shall ha' to come before they're mine altogether!"

Hide Savings in Odd Places.

The woman who, as just revealed in the law courts, hid her savings on her mother's grave in Forest Hill cemetery, probably hit on a unique cache.
But there is no saving. The person who mistrusts savings banks generally looks around for the most unlikely spot in which to deposit wealth, and more than one may hit on the same idea. Old cannon, for instance, seem to form favorable depositories. Quite a quantity of jewelry was found some while ago in a solitary gun which stands in the fort at Shoreham, and about the same time a bag containing 70 English sovereigns was discovered in an old cannon in Peel park, Bradford. From one of the old Crimean cannon at Liverpool also some laquelative youngsters once brought forth a soldier's discharge papers and notes to the value of $500.

Justice Got Mixed.

The justice of the peace in a town in Ohio, in pursuance of his duties, had to hear and judge the cases that were brought before him and also to perform occasional marriage ceremonies. He found it difficult to discuss the various functions of his office. Everything had gone smoothly until he asked one bride: "Do you take this man to be your husband?"
The bride nodded emphatically. "And you, accused," said the justice, turning to the bridegroom, "what have you to say in your defense?"

Speechless For Thanks.

Mena, Ark.—"I find Cardui to be all you represent," writes Mrs. H. B.
York, of this city. "I suffered from womanly ailments for nearly two years, before I tried Cardui. I have been so relieved since taking it. I cannot say enough in its praise. It has done me a world of good, and I recommend Cardui to all women." Cardui is over 50 years old, and the demand is greater today than ever. Cardui is the standard, tonic medicine, for women of every age. Would you like to be well and strong? Then take Cardui. Its record shows that it will help you. Begin today. Way

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation.
Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom.
Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the story that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Duruy presents in a most brilliant manner. In the story of the past he is the master of the pen. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a true interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

Uses of Sunflowers.

The tall, robust sunflowers that are growing in large numbers in Cloverport, might make a few pounds of butter for the German soldiers. The production of margarine from sunflowers is the latest device attributed to the German government to meet the expected scarcity of butter. In the early spring the Prussian ministry of railroads ordered all station masters to plant sunflowers in every bit of available ground around the depots. Sunflowers, it is claimed, yield an oil that can be used in the manufacture of substitutes for butter. The city seeds are valued as food for cattle, and as a source of vegetable oil. These brilliant ornaments are a native of Western United States. Success grows in the great plains of Nebraska, in Texas and in Jerusalem. —Breckenridge N.W.

AMERICAN'S INVENTION

Hammond's Discovery Considered Great Addition to Country's Defense.

New York, July 21.—John Hays Hammond, Jr., son of the mining engineer, has perfected a wireless apparatus by which he can control the movements of a small boat twenty miles at sea from his front porch on the ocean shore at Gloucester, Mass. He has made experiments with this boat in order to learn to control a torpedo to be sent against a hostile battleship, and now he has so nearly succeeded that many officers who have made an investigation think he has provided a means for defense which would make it impossible for a foreign battleship to get anywhere near striking distance of the United States.

Purchase of the wireless torpedo probably will be recommended to Congress by Secretary Garrison. The Appropriations Committee of the last Congress were urged to buy the invention for coast protection, but no action was taken.

Officials of the ordinance and fortifications divisions believe a concealed shore station may control a submerged torpedo within the limits of vision, and that an approaching battleship would have little chance of escape. This is based on Mr. Hammond's experiments with the Nathalie, a wireless controlled torpedo boat, which he directed for twenty-eight miles. This boat has two collapsible masts, which work like plunger elevators and can therefore avoid the enemy's range.

In a recent experiment at Gloucester Hammond erected a thirteen-foot bamboo pole one and a half inches in diameter, three and a half miles off shore. He hit this slender target with torpedoes ten out of fifteen times.

Army officers see great possibilities of extending the useful news of wireless control with the aid of the aeroplane scout. An aviator flying high and out of range might, by wireless to the operator ashore, direct an attack on a hospital ship out of sight of the shore station.

Killed by Lightning.

Glasgow, Ky., July 23.—The cabin of Hugh Mitchell, colored, was struck by lightning and he was killed. His mother and sisters were sleeping downstairs, and they were shocked but not seriously injured. Lightning struck the home of Jas. Sears, of Cross Roads, in the southern part of this county, and knocked Mrs. Sears unconscious and speechless for several years.

MINISTER GIVES REASONS FOR SUPPORTING STANLEY

Is The People's Friend and Statewide Question Will Be Submitted To a Vote of The People No Matter Who is Governor.

I have been often asked my position in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and will say that I am a Baptist minister, and my work is entirely among country churches, whose membership is made up largely of small farmers engaged in tobacco growing, among other things. I have known Mr. Stanley for the past ten or twelve years, and in the fight between my people and the tobacco trust he was always on the side of my people. He never asked for nor received employment at the hands of the trust, and during all his public record as a member of Congress he has not only been one of the ablest champions of the rights of the people, but has never been accused of corruption in office or anything looking towards that.

There is only one great issue in this country, and that is whether the trusts or the people shall control the government. Mr. Stanley has always been on the side of the people and I am perfectly willing to trust him as Governor of Kentucky. I know where he will be. The State Wide Question will be submitted to a vote of the people, no matter who is elected Governor; whenever they desire it. The other questions concerning the special interests will have to be settled largely by the General Assembly and the Governor. The material prosperity of my people, their moral welfare, depend upon a proper settlement of these great questions, and I believe that Mr. Stanley will be on their side and will be an able and fearless Governor, and will stand for the rights of the whole people. For these reasons I am for him for Governor. P. A. THOMAS, Hopkinsville, Ky., July 20, 1915. Advertisement.

SEX STRIKE.

One Way To Stop Fighting, Advocated by Mrs. Wentworth.

The most effective way to universal peace—the sex strike—was originated and advocated at Los Angeles by Mrs. Marion Craig Wentworth, author of "War Brides" and nationally prominent in the feminist movement. She arrived at Los Angeles from Boston, and in an interview expressed the basis of her sentiments in these sentences:

"Women have the power to say whether peace or war shall prevail.

"A sex strike of a million women would make war by the United States or an other country absolutely impossible.

"Women hold the gift of life in their hands and they have the right to refuse the gift if life is to be sacrificed to the war god.

"Women are awakening to a knowledge of their full powers and rights in this matter," she said. "While I believe a sex war will not be necessary in this country, I think there are enough American women sufficiently awakened and sufficiently aroused against war to make such an expedient possible. There can be no question of its effectuality if once invoked.

"Woman is the key to the gates of heaven. Why should she give life to have it desecrated on the bloody fields of battle? Women will suffer most from war. Women will suffer most in the terrible aftermath in Europe for generations. It is women's right to demand that there be no more war."

Sequel To Suit.

W. R. Jones, a prominent Mechanicsburg picker and cold storage operator, was married to Mrs. Elizabeth Schnuck Sunday morning at the Schnuck residence in Paducah. The case was first brought into prominence when Henry Schnuck, then the husband of Sunday's bride,

PROHIBITIONISTS WILL NAME STANLEY

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, President of the State W. C. T. U. Says:

"There were at the beginning of the campaign hundreds of voters who were for McChesney until it became known that he was the candidate of the machine. Since that fact became generally known, there has been a revulsion of feeling and a surprisingly large number of dry votes will go to Stanley as a protest against the prohibition fight being fought with such instruments as the machine provides.

"I believe that Mr. Stanley will be nominated and that the protesting prohibition voters will be the number of his majority."

filed suit against W. R. Jones for $10,000, for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. During the pendency of that suit Mrs. Schnuck sued and secured a divorce from her husband. Later the alienation suit was decided in favor of Mr. Jones, the jury holding that he did not alienate Mrs. Schnuck's affections.

G. W. Metcalfe Blows In.

Who should drop into Hopkinsville this week but George W. Metcalfe, one of the unlocated Ferrell's Boys? His invitation was sent to Beaumont, Texas, where he was last heard from as an oil well operator, but it missed him and he now announces that Hopkinsville looks so good to him that he has concluded to locate here once more and enjoy himself while his late wife spouts at Beaumont. Mrs. Metcalfe is at present with her parents at Monticello. George will be on hand Aug. 20th and some of the boys are already betting on him to tell the biggest one.

"Nobody Home."

The judge did not seem to appreciate the remarks of the lawyer for the defense. (Several years before they had had a fight over the question of religion.) At last the judge interrupted the lawyer and said: "Do you not know that everything you are saying is going in one ear and out the other?" The lawyer turned to him and replied: "Your honor, what is to prevent?"—Burr.

Insuring a Family

THIS consumptive girl lived in a little house with her parents and four brothers and a sister. When the visiting nurse of the city called upon her she found the whole family in danger of contracting tuberculosis from the young woman through ignorance of the proper methods of caring for the patient. The nurse instructed the members of the family about the preparation of the girl's food and the care of her room, so as to give her every chance for life. Most important of all, the nurse showed how the disease—tuberculosis—is spread from one person to another through the spit and spray from the mouth of a consumptive. They were taught that all of the expectorations should be caught in paper boxes or napkins and burned. Those instructions practically insure the lives of the other members of the family.

New Idea in Surgery.

A St. Louis physician has discovered that the common electric soldering iron can be used successfully for cauterizing in surgical work. Electric cauterizers have been made for surgical use, but they proved expensive and unreliable. However, the electric soldering iron of good quality happens to have just the temperature that is so desirable for cauterizing work. It destroys tissue, turning it into a white, cooked mass with hardly any charring and no hemorrhage, yet its continuous unvarying heat makes it work rapidly.

Punch and Judy.

Turkey is far from being the only oriental land in which a performance very like our Punch and Judy can be found. Travelers have described entertainments of the kind in Persia, Japan, Kamchatka, India, Egypt, Syria, Nubia, Siam, Pegu, Ava, Cochinchina and Tartary. Mr. Villiers Stuart observed the Egyptian Punch flooring the mamour (chief magistrate) and his canvasses, quite in the style of the English Punch's conduct toward headless and policemen, though in the Egyptian version the play ended morally with the hanging of Punch. The hero belongs to all ages as well as to most lands. Some have traced him to the Atellan farces of early Italy, and he has even been recognized in ancient Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Geographical Doubles.

The "doubles" of geographical nomenclature are endless. They may be partly accounted for by the tendency of all people to assimilate place names to something with which they are familiar. Galicia takes its name from the town of Hallel, but the Hungarian king who annexed the region at the end of the twelfth century called himself "Rex Galatiae"—presumably recalling the country in Asia Minor known to us through St. Paul's Epistle. And now we call this country by the same name as the northwestern corner of Spain once inhabited by the Callaici or Gallaeci. And close by are the Carpathian mountains, which have no connection with the Carpathian sea, the part of the Mediterranean near Rhodes named after the island of Carpathus.

Woman Past Help.

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers, says: "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. ORIGIN OF JUNE WEDDINGS Ancient Romans Held the Belief That Alliances Contracted in That Month Were Fated to Be Happy.

The first people to adopt the month of June as sacred to Hymen, the god of marriage, were the ancient Romans, who considered June the most propitious season of the year for entering upon matrimonial relations. The Romans held that June weddings were likely to be happier than alliances contracted in any other month of the year, especially if the day chosen were that of the full moon or the conjunction of the sun and moon. They also held that of all months May was to be most avoided, as in that month newly-weds would come under the influence of spring adverse to happy households. These ancient marriage superstitions were retained by the Christians in the middle ages, and even today June is considered by many to be pre-eminently the month of marriage. The word "wedding" is derived from the ancient Anglo-Saxon "wed" custom. The "wed" consisted of gifts, including a ring, given by the bridegroom to the bride. At the marriage ceremonies in those times the father of the bride presented his son-in-law with one of his daughter's shoes as a token of the transfer of authority, and the bride was struck sharply on the head with the shoe by her new spouse as a reminder that he was henceforth her "boss."

PLAYGROUNDS.

I do not know of any better way to teach a boy to be honorable and straight than to give him a chance to play with his comrades. In the playground he learns without any suggestion of rebellion against instruction and precept and preaching. He learns it because he does not want anybody else to cheat him, and is "down" on the boy that does not play fair. And in the long run, because he is "down" on the boy that will not play fair, he will establish standards of conduct which we must maintain in the community and particularly in our great cities. If there is one thing that we need more than another it is the constant emphasis among our citizens of that spirit of fair play, that willingness to give and take, that generosity in defeat and that lack of assertiveness in victory which we identify with true sport, and which is learned best of all in childhood upon the playground.—Justice Charles E. Hughes United States Supreme Court.

"But, poor fellow, she gives him a good wigging."

CREDIT GUIDE IS ASSURED

Merchants Will Establish Credit System On a Safer Basis Here.

As an average of 35 per cent. of a merchant's customers are slow to pay or absolutely delinquent, the merchants of Hopkinsville have decided to put in operation the plan adopted in other cities, rating every buyer so that when an individual applies for credit the business men will know whether they are worthy of it or not.

With this object in view, representatives of the Merchants Mercantile agency, publishers of the Credit Experience Guide, are now getting the credit standing of the entire population of Hopkinsville and vicinity.

The plan is similar to that of the mercantile agencies of R. G. Dunn and Bradstreet and each individual is listed, showing the number of places with which they deal and the manner of meeting their obligations with each merchant they trade with.

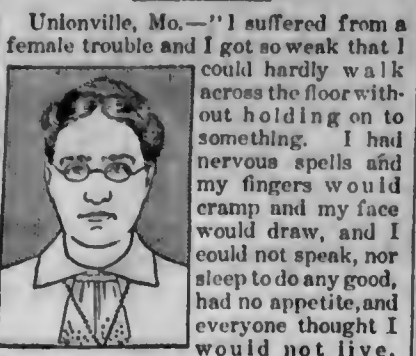

This system has been in operation throughout the country for the past twenty-five years and rating books have been published in nearly every county of this and adjoining states. These rating books show the kind of pay and credit of every man and woman in the district and are based on actual experience of the various business firms. It is to the interest of every person to keep his credit record good.

The prompt paying customers are benefited, inasmuch as they are relieved from any embarrassment when applying for credit, as all the business man has to do is to refer to the credit guide to know how many places they have traded with and how they paid their accounts in the past.

Only those who buy without the means or intention of paying can object to this system, as it protects the honest and prompt paying customers; as well as the merchants with whom they deal, and it now rests with each person who desires a good rating in the Credit Experience Guide to call upon any merchants they may have had dealings with and see that their accounts are settled or properly adjusted. Each business man is provided with letters to send to delinquent customers, giving them due notice and opportunity to settle their accounts so that no injustice shall be done any one.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

One-Man's Race.

Dr. Milton Board who has returned to Louisville from San Francisco, where he attended the meeting of the American Medical Association, and the Panama-Pacific Exposition, is enthusiastic over the outlook for A. O. Stanley for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He has taken an active part in the organization of the Stanley campaign. "There has never been in time," said Dr. Board, "since the Haly-Beckham crowd put McChesney in the Governor's race and thereby 'double-crossed' those in Louisville who saved the day for Beckham in the senatorial race last year, that there has been anything to this race but Stanley. It has been a one-man's race all the time, as the returns on August 7 will show—a big triumph for the Henderson man."
